Montana on the Bighorn: Fly Fishing Lodge for Two

Nestled along the legendary Bighorn River, Primal Collection's Eagle Nest Lodge is a premier destination for anglers and wingshooters seeking an authentic Western sporting experience grounded in excellence, tradition, and stewardship. The Bighorn River holds a greater number of large trout than any river in the US. With 8,000 trout per mile, it's common for an angler to land 20 fish between 15-20 inches in a day.

Selected among the inaugural group of lodges to receive an Orvis endorsement for fly fishing excellence, Eagle Nest Lodge further distinguished itself as the first Orvis-Endorsed lodge for wingshooting — becoming the first operation to achieve dual endorsements. This rare distinction reflects an unwavering commitment to exceptional sporting experiences and hospitality.

Owned by Sofia and Tony Brookfield, the lodge blends refined hospitality with Montana's rugged beauty. Conservation lies at the heart of that vision. Tony serves on the board for Trout Unlimited and is former Chairman of the Board for California Trout. His leadership in coldwater conservation, habitat restoration, and stewardship underscores the lodge's commitment to protecting landscapes that define sporting life.

INCLUDES

- 5 days of guided fly fishing on the world-renowned Bighorn River
- 6 nights of lodging at Eagle Nest Lodge
- All meals prepared by the lodge's acclaimed culinary team
